

MT. STERLING ADVOCATE.

A WEEKLY JOURNAL, IDENTICAL IN INTEREST WITH ITS OWN PEOPLE.

VOL. IV.

MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, JULY 24 1894.

NO 52

THE TARIFF BILL.

President Cleveland. Chairman Wilson and Senator Hill

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20,
EDITOR ADVOCATE:

The tariff bill. Oh! where is it? Mr. Hill says "a theory as well as a condition confronts us" at present. The Conference Committee on the tariff bill has made its report, and the conferees agreed to disagree, and Mr. Hill in opening his speech on the report made use of the above language. The President has written a letter to Chairman Wilson denouncing the Senate job as an utter failure on the part of the Senate to redeem the pledges of the Democratic party. Mr. Hill is defending the President's position on free raw materials. Mr. Wilson said in concluding his speech yesterday: "If it be true that the great American sugar trust has grown so strong and so powerful that it says that no tariff bill can pass the American Congress, in which its privileges are not adequately guarded, if I say, that be true, I hope this House will never consent to adjourn. I hope whatever the fate of the general tariff bill is, that this House will not consent to an adjournment until it has passed a single bill putting refined sugar on the free list."

Chairman Wilson has proven himself a true and patriotic Democrat; a Democrat for principle and not for what there is in it. What we need to-day is a few more Wilsons and the Democratic party will stand forever. It is thought that the House will never agree to an adjournment until the bill is disposed of, and according to the House's idea of the matter.

This state of affairs convinces me more thoroughly that the Senate should either be abolished or that Senators should be elected by the people. When it comes to a few "incorrupt," "true" Senators wanting to repudiate and destroy the opinions, the views and the grand principles of the great Democratic party, it is time to call a halt. The House of Representatives must stand firm, and get what the people want or nothing. The Wilson Bill as it was passed by the Senate, is simply the McKinley Bill with Wilson's name at its head.

After passing a number of bills from the Judiciary Committee to-day, the House resumed the consideration of the Tucker joint resolutions providing for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people.

About the first thing one hears in the morning and the last thing at night in Washington, is, "Ain't it hot?" This seems to me to be the hottest place in the world.

The Public Printer is still cutting off heads and the employees are petitioning Congress for a new building, a rather badly needed. If an accident should occur in the printing office, there can be no fault laid to anyone except Congress herself.

There are great preparations being made here for the entertainment of the K. of P.'s. Vice President Stevenson has promised to deliver the address of welcome. The Knights will certainly receive a royal welcome and have a grand time while here. Washington being the nation's city, the sights to be seen are well worth a visit, and the W of P. Encampment will afford an opportunity of seeing all a little cost. There will be a grand reception at Convention Hall, which seats 6,000 people. This is where the Knights will be received by the next President of the United States. JIM DASH.

For a Song.

Middlesboro, Ky., July 21.—The nominal Assets of the Coal and Iron Bank, consisting of personal notes, stocks of various Middlesboro corporations and city warrants put up as collateral, amounting to $644,000, were sold to-day by Receiver D. E. McDowell at a public auction for $1,644.

Mother and Daughter.

Mrs. Virginia Botts, one of the oldest citizens of Mt. Sterling in length of residence as well as in years of life, died on Tuesday morning last at her home in this city. For many years she has been almost a complete invalid and a confirmed recluse for many more. She would have reached the ripe age of ninety had she lived till the 10th day of November next, and seventy-five of those years has been spent as a resident of Mt. Sterling. Nearly seventy years ago she joined the Christian Church under the preaching of the distinguished Alexander Campbell. Mrs. Botts had a strong hold on the friendship of our older citizens who knew her when she was a woman in the prime of life and in the discharge of her active duties.

Mrs. Botts passed away about 10 a. m. and as the wires were bearing the news of her demise to her daughter, Mrs. John B. Wilson, of Shelby County, the same wire was charged with another message to the family here that Mrs. Wilson herself had gone to join the mother in the other land. Barely a half hour intervened between the demise of mother and daughter.

The remains of Mrs. Wilson were brought here and the unusual scene was witnessed of mother and daughter being laid away together in our city of the dead. The burial service of the two was held at the home of Mrs. Botts in this city on Wednesday afternoon.

A Tape Worm Suit.

A very peculiar suit has been filed in the Bullitt Quarterly Court. Dr. Kansler, a prominent physician of Smithville, swore out a writ of delivery against Dock Miller, of color, for the recovery of a tape worm which the doctor claims he took from Miller's boy several weeks ago and which Miller promised to deliver to him in consideration of the doctor's services.

Recently the doctor called upon Miller for the worm, which was preserved in alcohol, and the darky refused to give it up, claiming the boy would die if the worm went out of the family. The doctor then demanded the money for his services attending the boy, but Dock didn't have the money and turned the doctor away with insulting words. The doctor is very wrothy and determined to collect his fee.

Conferees Threatened.

The conferees of the Tariff Bill are not only required to meet dissensions in their own ranks, but it appears are also compelled to receive threats of personal violence from persons on the outside. These threats have so far come by mail, and are generally anonymous.

Senator Jones says he has received at least a dozen letters of this character, of which the following is a fair specimen: "New York, July 19.—To the Congressional Committee on Tariff Bill: If you pass the bill with the income tax don't forget to order your coffin. You will need them, all of you, as soon as you are in Washington. A Democrat. So help you God."

Louis Stevenson, the Vice President's son, was greatly pleased with his appointment to the pay corps of the navy, had a uniform made, and was about to file his bond, but, meanwhile, married and went to Europe on his wedding trip and then resigned. No reason has been assigned for this change of mind, but it appears to be chiefly a rich father-in-law. Louisville Post.

The A. R. U. leaders request that no American citizen who believes in equal justice to all men, shall patronize the Pullman Company by riding in their cars, until they do justice to their employees. Debs expresses his faith in the American people, and says all legal means will be resorted to until the grievances have been righted. He claims his organization is to grow at the rate of 600 per day.

For Rent.

Choice bed-rooms, in the Tyler-Aperson building. See M. S. Tyler or call at this office for particulars.

STONE'S BILL.

It Provides For the Inspection of Immigrants on the Other Side.

Washington, July 21.—The Congressional authorities on immigration laws are much exercised over the passage of Representative William A. Stone's Immigration Bill in the House yesterday, while most of the members were watching the exciting scenes in the Senate. The Stone bill is far-reaching in its effect on the system of inspecting immigrants, as the entire inspection is transferred to foreign ports and placed in the hands of United States Consuls, instead of waiting for inspection at New York and other ports when the immigrant arrives in this country. "I expect to see the bill taken up by the Senate at an early day and passed," said Mr. Stone, "and already several Senators who recognize the evils of immigration have signified their purpose to urge it to speedy passage. The present immigration system has proved a failure. Immigrants keep coming without reference to restrictions. The system is wrong, as it leaves the immigrant to furnish all the information on which he is to be received or rejected."

Mr. Stone was asked if the removal of the system to foreign ports would not necessitate a large force of inspectors or else give the United States Consuls additional work, entitling them to additional pay. "No," said he. "Efforts have been made to so change the laws as to let the Treasury Department appoint the foreign inspectors. Such a change would necessitate the creation of a large force of officers; but as the bill stands the United States Consuls, who are not overburdened with work, will have charge of the inspection."

It is understood that Senators Davis, Chandler and Quay will particularly interest themselves in the Stone bill with a view to its early adoption.

Looks Like Paynter.

Greenup, Ky., July 21.—At the county conventions to-day Congressman Paynter carried Greenup, Carter, Fleming, Mason, Nicholas, Robertson, Bracken, Harrison, Rowan and Lewis, giving him within four of the nomination.

A Young Congressman.

If J. M. Kendall, Democratic congressional nominee in the Tenth Kentucky District, is anything like the Courier Journal's picture of him, he ought to be a Freshman in a first-class high school. But he made a strong speech in accepting the nomination. —Selma (Ala.) Times.

Dr. John L. Brown, of Jeffersonville, was married on last Wednesday to Miss Prudie Catherine Bowling, Rev. J. P. Ross, of the Methodist Church, Camargo, officiating, at 6:30. They went to Frankfort and after a few days sojourn will return to Jeffersonville and begin housekeeping.

Let Clark Settle it.

In spite of the fact that the Campion Convention endorsed Judge W. M. Beckner for the short term in Congress to succeed the Hon. M. C. Lisle, he will have to fight inside the party for the place. Mr. D. C. Lisle, brother of the deceased Congressman, has followed up his announcement of candidacy by commencing an active fight for the place. His claims are purely sentimental, and that sort of thing goes a long way in that district, and it may be that he will be a formidable factor in the race.

It seems a pity that the Democrats of the district at this particular time when harmony is so much desired should be called on to settle a contest for such a very short term, and it has been suggested that Judge Beckner and Mr. Lisle leave the settlement of the matter to the voters of Clark County when they both reside. It is said that two gentlemen concerned have practically agreed to this, and it seems to be the sensible way out of it.—Courier Journal.

Has Some Bigness His-own-self.

Mr. Vest indignantly resents Mr. Cleveland's action in urging Congress to do something toward redeeming the pledges of the Democratic platform "Mr. Cleveland is a big man," exclaims Mr. Vest, "but the Democratic party is greater than any one man." It is not, however, according to Mr. Vest's Tariff Bill, as great as three or four men whom Mr. Vest happens to know in the Senate.—Courier Journal.

The Fifth Avenue Hotel, one of the best in the city of Louisville, has changed hands, and while its prices will remain the same, it will if possible be placed on a higher grade of the past. The Fifth Avenue under its former management has pleased its guests, they be ever so fastidious, and now this hotel has an enviable reputation throughout the country over.

Under the new management Mr. Johnson will not only aim to maintain its high standing, but to make it more attractive and pleasant. The Fifth Avenue has few equals, even with hotels which charge twice the amount, and under the present management it will continue to grow in popularity.

It is a glorious rain that fell yesterday. Never did rain come more timely or in a manner to do more good. It fell just fast enough to be drank up by the thirsty ground, and as it reached the roots of the grass, corn and tobacco it sent new life into the parched vegetation and put a broad grin upon every farmer's face.

That was a glorious rain that fell yesterday. Never did rain come more timely or in a manner to do more good. It fell just fast enough to be drank up by the thirsty ground, and as it reached the roots of the grass, corn and tobacco it sent new life into the parched vegetation and put a broad grin upon every farmer's face.

Judge Seeds, of the New Mexico Federal Court, upholds the action of the Atchison receivers in refusing to re-employ strikers and orders that no one guilty of contempt shall in any manner be re-employed. This latter especially effects fourteen strikers whom he has just sentenced to terms varying from fifteen to fifty days in jail.

It is said that the pastors of three churches in Cynthiaville have decided not to preach more than half an hour, and to call upon any member caught nodding during service to lead in prayer.

The preacher who cannot keep his congregation awake for half an hour, even these sultry summer days, deserves to have them go to sleep on him.

It is a mistake to think that women are less intellectual than men. The brain that can comprehend and carry the fancy work directions given in the fashion papers is surely equal to any question of state, no matter how momentous it may be.

A school district in Grant County, Kansas, contains only one family. The father, mother and oldest son have elected themselves trustees, and appointed the eldest daughter, at $35 a month, to teach the younger children.

Babylonian tablets which have just reached the British Museum prove that faith in one God existed in that part of the world 3,000 years before Christ.

The only holidays in the year to which an English apprentice is legally entitled are Sundays, Good Fridays and Christmas Day.

It is estimated that in Germany last year 15,000,000 men wasted over 85 working days each in playing cards.

When a person is hysterical oftentimes a portion of the body has absolutely no feeling.

Tanned elephant skin is over an inch thick and brings very high prices.

Pneumatic tires have been found very serviceable on hospital ambulances.

Robbed Near Winchester.

Mr. Wm. Spencer, a well known and popular farmer of this county, on Monday night of last week, reached Winchester on his way home from a trip to the west. His train missed connection, and he hired a horse and buggy, with a negro driver, to come home.

When some distance this side of Winchester, the negro drew a razor on Mr. Spencer and demanded his money. After getting what money Mr. Spencer had with him, some $33, the brute threatened to kill the old gentleman.

A fortunate movement of the horse threw the sounder to the ground, and Mr. Spencer drove rapidly toward home. Mr. Spencer sent to town for his son-in-law, Mr. Chas. T. Wilson, and together they returned to Winchester, and found little difficulty in locating the negro, who proved to be Grant Goff, an ex-convict. Mr. Spencer secured $25.25 of his money and had the satisfaction of seeing his assailant lodged in jail.

At There Senators!

The Senate's reception of the President's letter was what might have been expected. The small boy can never understand the justice of a spanking. The Senate is out of sorts. It knows it has brought itself into contempt. It knows it has dishonored the pledges of the Democratic party. It has managed to quiet its own conscience by specious arguments, but it has a restless fear that there is going to be trouble to make these arguments stand with the people. They are not too far gone to recognize in the President's letter the opinion that the people entertain of them—that they have been driving the Democracy toward "party perfidy and party disonor."—Courier Journal.

The marriage history of George K. Gates, of New York who figures in a divorce case which is to come up, will be as follows:

1865. Married Annie Dudley; quarreled and separated.

1869. Told by his wife's father that Mrs. Dudley was dead.

1890. Married Alice Lipman, who tried to get hold of his property, and failing is said to have tried to poison him.

1892. Mrs. Gates No. 2 went to live with the boarder, Andrew Wood.

1893. Mrs. Gates No. 1, who had not died, sued for divorce, charging Gates with committing adultery with Mrs. Gates No. 2.

1892. Mrs. Gates No. 2 sued for divorce, charging Gates with carnal knowledge of Servant girl Maggie Monahan.

The name of W. C. P. Breckinridge has been dropped from the list of Lexington Lodge No. 1, F. & A. M., and in its list of members appear the names of Henry Clay, Crittenden, Beck. Willis will not die a Mason.

It is a mistake to think that women are less intellectual than men. The brain that can comprehend and carry the fancy work directions given in the fashion papers is surely equal to any question of state, no matter how momentous it may be.

A school district in Grant County, Kansas, contains only one family. The father, mother and oldest son have elected themselves trustees, and appointed the eldest daughter, at $35 a month, to teach the younger children.

Babylonian tablets which have just reached the British Museum prove that faith in one God existed in that part of the world 3,000 years before Christ.

The only holidays in the year to which an English apprentice is legally entitled are Sundays, Good Fridays and Christmas Day.

It is estimated that in Germany last year 15,000,000 men wasted over 85 working days each in playing cards.

When a person is hysterical oftentimes a portion of the body has absolutely no feeling.

Tanned elephant skin is over an inch thick and brings very high prices.

Pneumatic tires have been found very serviceable on hospital ambulances.

AT COST.

Dry Goods,
Carpets,
Matting
and Wall Paper.

Carpets for 1c a yard to 6c a yard up. Wall Paper 1c to 6c a bolt up. Rugs for about your own price.

GLASSWARE AND QUEENSLAWNWARE.

Chamber Set for $1.25 a set up. Glasses 2c each up. Plates 1c each. Cups 1c, Saucers and Spoons 1c. Dishes 1c to 2c. Dishes 1c. Hanging Lamps 15c, 18c, 2c and up.

STOES.

HARDWARE AND TINWARE.

We have the largest line in the city and we will make the lowest prices ever quoted in the city. We will give a 20 per cent. discount sale, but this will not be for long.

Now, the reason we make this sale is want to vacate my old and run down, and to do this I have sold my old house, and now I have a new one in your part, and now make your money come by buying of

Now this sale will last for the month of JULY.

Bargain House.

Every Sale Is Spot Cash.

Main St., Mt. Sterling.

5th YEAR.

Goodwin's High School.

FOR

BOYS AND YOUNG MEN,

WILL BEGIN

Monday, Sept. 3, 1894.

Catalogues are out and will be sent on application.

Address,

M. J. GOODWIN,
51-3m
MT. STERLING, KY.

Emerson Institute.

MT. STERLING, KY.

A Boarding and Day School for Girls.

A Primary and Academic Department.

THE SECOND YEAR WILL BEGIN SEPTEMBER 1, 1894.

Mrs. Lewis will retain charge of the school and will have charge of the girls' work for two years of age, for two years daily. The work in the Literatures of European countries and their histories, the Literatures of the United States and the American Literatures. Excellent advantages in Music, Painting, Music, Art, Drawing, French, German and other modern languages. Will be in the course with out extra charge. Miss Lewis is at Mrs. Kanter's, 51-3m, and will be in charge of the school. For further information or for catalogues, address Mrs. S. M. Lewis, Emerson Institute, 51-3m.

THE ADVOCATE.

The President has approved the bill for the admission of Utah.

It is computed that there are in the United States 48,900 blind and 33,900 deaf mutes.

The Bailey Bill providing for a voluntary bankruptcy law has been passed by the House.

An agricultural laborer in India is supposed to receive five cents a day, but in general his wages are not so large.

A prominent breeder of hogs, who has kept a careful record, says that for ten years he has been able to sell stock at an average price of $5.05 per 100 pounds.—Farmers Home Journal.

London has an annual average rainfall of but twenty-five inches, Paris twenty-two inches, Manchester thirty-six inches and Edinburgh thirty-eight inches, while Boston shows forty-six inches, New York forty-five inches, Philadelphia forty-one inches and Chicago thirty-six inches.

Senator George, of Mississippi, has introduced a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing that eight hours shall constitute a day's work for persons engaged in manual labor, and that persons lawfully engaged "shall not be unlawfully hindered or obstructed."

The sub-committee of the Suffrage Committee of the New York Constitutional Convention has decided to report to the full committee adversely all propositions tending toward female suffrage except that allowing the question to be submitted to a vote of the electors of the State at the next general election.

Patrick O'Hearn was shot and perhaps fatally injured by an unknown negro in the yards of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Southern Railroad, Louisville. The negro was about to be run over when O'Hearn jerked him from the track. O'Hearn is a switchman, and the negro taking the kindness for an assault, drew his pistol and fired the shot which may prove fatal.

At Philadelphia was enacted another of those scenes which have become so frequent of late years upon the base ball field, and which have thrown so much discredit upon this manly sport. In a riot subsequent to the game one of the Boston players had his cheek broken by one of the mob, and a further attack upon the visiting team was only prevented with difficulty.

George Loomis, of Lexington, the Greek, who a few days ago criminally assaulted fifteen-year-old Maggie Davis, has been held over to the Circuit Court for trial. The evidence shows the outrage to have been a shameful assault upon the little girl. Loomis was placed in jail in default of $1,500 bail. He recently married Miss Nannie Kimball, who now wants a divorce, on the ground that she was married to Loomis while asleep in bed and that he did not have her consent.

William Spencer, of this county, who was returning from Texas and missed connection at Winchester, hired a horse and buggy and employed a negro, Grant Goff, to drive him out home and take back the conveyance. They had gone only a short distance, when the negro drew a razor and demanded Mr. Spencer's money, which he got. He then attempted to murder Mr. Spencer, but Mr. Spencer got away. Goff has been captured. He has served a year in the penitentiary in this State and also one in the penitentiary in Ohio. He will go to the pen again, but the scaffold world be better for such a murderous villain.

At a meeting of the Democratic Congressional Committee of the Fifth (Louisville) District held on Wednesday last, says the Courier Journal, Chairman Long showed, by figures copied from the registration books, that there had been either a wholesale conversion of Republicans from the error of their ways or a very large number of members of the bread-and-butter brigade had registered themselves as Democrats with the idea of selling their suffrage. While Mr. Harrison got 11,879 votes at the election of 1892 and Mr. Cleveland but 17,686, yet the registration of 1893 showed a total of 25,003 registered as Democrats and but 5,700 Republicans.

If there isn't a nigger in that woodpile, appearances are mighty deceiving. The committee will however, endeavor to provide against fraud.

JUDGE COOLEY ON THE STRIKE

The Eminent Jurist Highly Commends the President's Course. From a Constitutional Standpoint.

In view of criticisms that have been uttered in certain quarters on the legality of the course pursued by President Cleveland in using Federal troops, notably in Chicago, not to preserve the peace, but to execute the decrees of the Federal judiciary and keep in operation the provisions of the Interstate commerce law, the following letter from one of the most able exponents of the Constitution in the land has peculiar application:

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 15, 1894.—Honored Sir: Now that the great strike in the President Grover Cleveland—Honored Sir: Now that the great strike in which your official intervention became so necessary, has been clearly shown to be a failure, I beg to be allowed to express my unqualified satisfaction with every step you have taken in vindication of the national authority and with the restoration of law and order which has followed or is now in progress. The caution and deliberation with which you have proceeded are, I think worthy like the accompanying firmness, of highest praise, and I am specially gratified that a great and valuable lesson in constitutional construction has been settled for all time with remarkable little bloodshed. You and the Attorney General also have won the gratitude of the country, not for this generation only, but for all time, and that God may bless you for it is the sincere prayer of your obedient servant,

THOMAS M. COOLEY.

Curiosities of Tree-Growth.

Some remarkable cases of natural grafting have been observed lately in America. One is that of a sugar maple which has coalesced with a white pine in a woodland of Wisconsin. The trunks keep apart for three and a half feet above the ground, where they unite into a single stem. It is supposed that friction in the wind or the nibbling of a deer has frayed the green bark when the trees were saplings and caused them to adhere. Other cases of white pines growing together have been reported, in one of them as many as four trunks uniting at a sufficient height above the ground to allow persons to walk under. A veritable "bow-knot" formed by the branches of a tree has also been described; and in the heart of two trunks—one of bur oak, the other of white wood, sown up for lumber—the antlers of deer were found imbedded. It is supposed that the animals had caught the tips of their horns in the green wood and broken them off. In the heart of another trunk of hickory wood a horse-shoe was found; but how it got there is quite a mystery.—Cassell's Magazine.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mr. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that he caught cold, which settled on his lungs; she was treated for a month by his family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at W. S. Lloyd's druggist, large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

A Big Contract Offered Uncle Sam.

It has not been long since a gentleman and lady of Louisville had a fight and smashed a hack to pieces in attempting to settle the question as to whether modern etiquette requires the gentleman or the lady to fast from a carriage. Now two gentlemen of Louisville have had a fight in attempting to settle the question as to which of two gentlemen, joint owners of a bottle of whisky, should take the first drink from the bottle. When the United States Government gets through settling strikes and rebellions in Illinois and California perhaps it will send its troops to Louisville and settle once for all the etiquette of the country.—Courier Journal.

Don't forget the great game of baseball this afternoon.

Zoo Snakes Under Treatment for Elongated Ills.

Who ever heard of a snake with a sore throat? The probabilities are that most people would hesitate in guessing where a snake's throat ends and the rest of his anatomy begins. But snakes in captivity do have sore throats, and if due precautions are not taken to cure the trouble it spreads and destroys the jaw bones and fangs. The treatment of a snake's sore throat is not unattended with difficulty. The difficulty is as long as the snake.

Supt. of the Zoo knows more about the care of animals, snakes and birds than any other man in Cincinnati does. He can tell at a glance whether any of his Zoo charges were well, merely under the weather, off the feed or seriously ill. In the last few days he had noticed that the snakes had sore mouths and throats and could not eat their regular rations of live pigeons and rats. These delicacies are on the regular bill of fare at the snake cage, and it is a wise act that keeps out of the Zoo. The way, the way, are getting scarce out there.

With the superintendent to see is to act, and he at once made preparations to treat the snakes. The keepers helped, armed with brooms. The brush part of a broom isn't a bad thing over a snake's head until he can catch just right, and his mouth forced open. There are not many people who would care to fool that way with toads and pythons. There is nothing like knowing how, and the Zoo people know how.

The larger snakes were taken out and their mouths and throats gorged. They were then, one by one, popped into common meal sacks, tied up and laid away. The operation was very skillfully performed, until it came the turn of Mr. African Python. This terror has his own ideas upon the subject of medical treatment, and resisted the doctoring. Billy, the keeper, who was helping the superintendent endeavored to hold the aft half of the snake quiet while Mr. Stephen doctor'd a few yards further up.

A python is pretty strong and in spite of Billy's struggle the creature wrapped his arm in his hold, and it was with difficulty unswayed by the other man before any damage was done. The snake succeeded in darting its dangerous fangs close to the superintendent's hands three times before the throat had been treated. After that the python was tied up like the others and stored away.

Three snakes were covered with bags upon the tree trunk in the cage, and at once settled down to repose. When covered with these bags the snakes imagine themselves in the tree hollows and lie dormant until uncovered or very hungry, when they become restless and wriggling. After the keepers had hung up the bags of snakes they cleaned out the cage and painted the floor.—Cincinnati Tribune.

Mr. Debs, who has suddenly become so famous, is said to be in danger of a nervous break-down. Something over two years ago he was suffering greatly from the effects of drinking, and he was sent to be treated by Dr. T. S. Robertson. The treatment was remarkably successful, but the effects of hard drinking could not be entirely removed. During the recent labor troubles, Dr. Robertson sent Debs the following telegram:

"As your friend and physician, I implore you to stop where you are. The condition of your nervous system and the great strain upon it make you irresponsible for your own orders. Yours in friendship, T. S. R."

Dr. Robertson says: "When Debs came to me he was a physical and mental wreck. He had been a brilliant young man, and I used every effort to save him, and succeeded, but no man who has been shattered as he has, can endure such a strain as he is now putting upon himself. I don't know whether he is sound mentally or not." These other utterances by Dr. Robertson concerning Mr. Debs, are given in the New York Evening Post, and they throw a good deal of light upon the sayings and doings of Mr. Debs. They will also affect public sentiment in regard to him.—Ex.

The Bracken Association of Baptists will meet at Mayfield, August 8, 9 and 10. Delegates and visitors who expect to attend are requested to send their names to Rev. H. H. Hibbs or W. Mathewson, homes can be assigned them. Those going on train will stop at Helena, where they will be met by conveyances.

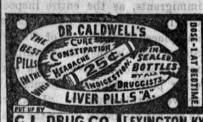

Old papers for sale at this office.

The Best Dressing

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

Prevents the hair from becoming thin, faded, gray, or white, and preserves its richness and luxuriance, suitable to an advanced period of life. It cures lichen, humens, and keeps the scalp cool, moist, and healthy.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

DR. CALDWELL'S
THE CURE
FOR PILE
CONSTIPATION
HATRED
INDIFFERENCE
LIVER
LIVER PILLS.
C. L. DRUG CO., LEXINGTON, KY.

TABLER'S PILE
BUCK EYE PILE
OINTMENT
CURES NOTHING BUT PILES.
A SURE AND CERTAIN CURE
known for 15 years as the BEST REMEDY FOR PILES.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Prepared by RICHARDSON MED CO., ST. LOUIS.

COLUMBIAN
LIQUID
PAINT!

A Pure
Linsseed
Oil Paint.

We guarantee this Paint to be composed of the very best material combined
with greatest care.
No water, no benzine,
No short measure.
For sale by

R. C. LLOYD

DRUGGIST,

Paints & All Druggist's Sundries,

MT. STERLING, KY.

MONUMENTS
OF Every Kind

Made and set up in all parts of the country

•••
WRITE FOR DESIGNS.

NO AGENTS EMPLOYED.

•••

W. A. ADAMS & SON,

22-lyr Broadway, Lexington, Ky.

DO YOU WANT TO BUY OR SELL
A COW.

A FARM,

A HORSE,

A HOUSE,

A TOWNLOT,

CORN, OATS, HAY.

Any thing that a man has to buy or sell. Place an advertisement in the Advocate, and find purchaser or a seller.

Home Steam Laundry.

No better work

anywhere. Prices

the same and

money circulated

at home.

Old papers for sale at this office.

18-19

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting. Sour Curd, cures Diarrhea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulence. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent remedy for children. Mothers have unanimously told me of its good effects upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Oseen,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children that I have ever used. I have recommended it to many mothers and they have all said that it is superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Adams, M. D.,
111 So. Orange Street, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their office, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying the loved ones by their opium and other poisons. Castoria is free to all who send their agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature grave."

Dr. J. F. Ketcheson,
Conway, Ark.

ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
BOSTON, MASS.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Adams, M. D.,
111 So. Orange Street, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their office, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying the loved ones by their opium and other poisons. Castoria has won to us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
BOSTON, MASS.

To the Lady of the House:

Just at this season you can get goods at your own prices. In a great many lines we are selling to close out the line at remarkably low figures.
Carpets and matting were never so low as now.

Shoes go at cost.

Summer goods must now be cleared out, in fact reductions and cuts have been made on all sides.

Come with your cash, it counts to your advantage at our store.

Grubbs &
Hazelrigg.

LAIES, GENTS AND ALL BUYERS

PLEASE CALL AND SEE US

WE ARE ANXIOUS TO SHOW OUR

New Ginghams,

Hamburg's,

Laces,

White Goods,

Dimities,

Irish Lawns,

Linens, etc.

We will offer you the best Tobacco Cotton, Bleached Brown Cotton, Sheetings, and Cotton Crashes to be had for THE MONEY.

A good Check Cotton Crash for 5c. a yard. Call and see us.

SAMULES & KING.

Enterprise Hotel.

JOHN SEARCY, Prop't.

235 East Market St., Louisville, Ky.

BEST $1.00 PER DAY HOTEL IN THE CITY OR STATE.

A NINETEENTH CENTURY RHYME.

Once upon a time
Women were the wiser
They say it's not the proper time
However, now to come.

And then there was a joke.
The oak trees of today
Have such a foolish way
Of thinking that the earth is theirs alone.

To read this doth incline
She wants a foot of ground to call her own.

She likes that she was born
She likes that she is born
But all she likes are light and room to grow,
Did not the same dear earth
Give birth to the same dear birth?

It is hard to make an oak believe it though.

Still I shouldn't wonder much
If this old tree dreamed of toads.

Or that it had a secret effect.

A change for much—ay, more.

Than the world's been looking for.

It may do more good than you or I.

—Philadelphia in New York Sun.

JOANNA'S ROMANCE.

Where I first saw Joanna was in the draper's shop of a stout little country town, not big enough for a hundred towns, small and great. The place was quite dead and great.

For the place its illustrious ghosts went to the lashing, tearing voices of the Atlantic that even in the mild autumn shouted and smote incessantly, making a tumult in the air. The shop was hung with shawls and cheap, shoddy prints and linseys, so that in the dark one could scarcely see Joanna's bright head at first, as one came blinking out of the daylight. The shop was sunk a step or two below the street.

She was a big, generously built, handsome girl. Her hair, twisted in splendid coils, was of that pale color which is as much silver as gold. Her face, with its regular, large features, was suffused with a healthy color. She looked at us from large gray eyes, clear as agate and as hard.

Our business was to make some small purchase of a basket, if we could find one, to carry home a specimen of the town's manufacture of rough, red pottery. Joanna assisted us in this to the best of her power, and then some remark about the slowness of business brought down upon us a perfect avalanche of exclamation.

Joanna had little to do at that moment. Indeed, for the hour or more we conversed with her, her customers were a small child for a halfpenny spool, and a girl who came back repenting a purchase and wanting the money back. With these Joanna would sumrarily sit at a table, to chat to whom she was apparently eager for. She set us a couple of chairs between the lines of shawls and leaned forward herself with her arms akimbo on the narrow counter.

Hers was a discourse on the Irish land and the people, the difference between land and tenant, the condition of the Irish poor with divergencies to the general subject of labor, the cause of strikes and a great many other things. We were well content to listen. The girl was extraordinarily well informed and intelligent. The soft brogue was music.

Also we were in the very midst of a disturbed and distressed district and were both keenly interested. We were not English tourists, but a pair of Irish women, with a certain knowledge of the matter, though without Joanna's illumination from within.

We were both filled with admiration of Joanna's knowledge and in the excitement of her volatile talk. Joanna had given us brilliantly handsome. What a girl to be doing out farthing purchases in this melancholy, haunted little place, which was only tolerable because of the contrast to one's own vivid life far away in the States! As we talked the time seemed to crawl along, and a dreary party of dead leaves came down the street, where, at long intervals, a human footfall sounded.

"You will not always stay here," Ross said. With sudden, quick sympathy. "You are saving your wages, no doubt, and will get away some day to a bigger place, because you are a girl."

"Savvin'" echoed Joanna scornfully. "No indeed, then. If you knew what my wages were, 'tis little you'd talk of savin'." An what for would I save? I am as happy here as if I went foreign to Dublin or Cork. What for would I go savin' a room-in?"

Ross answered deprecatingly.

"But a fine, handsome girl like you won't spend all your life behind this poor little counter! You will want a business of your own, and it is perhaps possible you might think of marriage."

"Marriage?" said the girl almost fiercely. "There's not a man to be had here—less 'n $300, an' them only shows of widowers, for there's nothing else here. Why, if I ever could have under the sun $300, is it the like of them I'd spend it?"

Her wailing Corgie brough out rather than with our own experience of the results of the Munster matchmaking system. Ross looked rather shocked, but then she was very flushed.

"But, my dear," said Ross, "you are young and clever and handsome. There are 'many men in the world who would love you just for your own sake. Do you only think of marriage?"

"'Tisn't me," said the girl almost fiercely. "There's not a man to be had here—less 'n $300, an' them only shows of widowers, for there's nothing else here. Why, if I ever could have under the sun $300, is it the like of them I'd spend it?"

Her wailing Corgie brough out rather than with our own experience of the results of the Munster matchmaking system. Ross looked rather shocked, but then she was very flushed.

"'Tisn't me," said the girl almost fiercely. "There's not a man to be had here—less 'n $300, an' them only shows of widowers, for there's nothing else here. Why, if I ever could have under the sun $300, is it the like of them I'd spend it?"

Following came her husband, a tall, strong, dark man, with a face whose bones we know a word about it.

The cruel thing was that Joanna's match was already made with young Spelman, the mills beyond. He cried off quickly enough when he heard where Joanna's fortune went to. Joanna won't speak of him now, but I often think she's still in love with him.

"Anyhow he wasn't fit for her, for he was rich enough to have taken her, if he liked." She looked at us, with a certain trouble. "I'm often you would be dearly loved and love in return!"

"Men an' love," said Joanna emphatically. "I don't set any store by them. People marry for love to sign in Dublin an' Cork, not here. A friend of mine married for love, and what came of it? 'Twas love they had to live on, no more. Och, he was the worthless strayed with his horse. He might have to live on his father's long, and the only man who would let them. Then when they were turned out he took her to America. But there was no place there for him an' his idle ways are his love. An now they're back an' draggin' the devil by the tail for a livin', an she's back to a storm. She'd driven herself up till she looked like a fierce, handsome young amazan, her cheeks flushed, her eyes sparklin', her fingers pointing her contempt."

"The Lord of Love, ab, beheaded. The love of man, ab, beheaded. The love of man, ab, beheaded."

I said, belching my breath. Rosa looked as if she could scarcely endure these unnatural opinions in Joanna. Perhaps the girl saw she was shocked. At all events, her attitude suddenly relaxed; her face and voice suddenly softened.

"Deed," she said, and you could hear her resounding for a second, "no, not that I'd say, love wasn't good for married men. Who'd know what it is between husband an' wife better than me, James O'Connell's own sister! But 'tis married love, love that comes with the priest's blessing, an' none of that sort of love, ab, beheaded. Look her up," she said, with another golden change of tone, "we've got in about the evicted tenants."

"Well, if you'd like to know one that has been through it, I'll take you any Sunday to see my own brother, that old Potholmire evicted. He's under Major Hanney now, glory be to God, but he's a good man. Look at the little ones over in a cabin with the wet comin' through the thatch, an' only the black shadow of Barlass hill for shelter against the north wind."

"We'll go gladly," said Ross for both of us, "and next Sunday after mass, if that will suit you, Miss O'Connell." Joanna joined us at the hotel on Sunday about 1 o'clock. We had a rickety hotel car and a ragged driver in high spirits, who kept incessantly urging the lean little mare. We flew down hill and up hill at breakneck pace, but theurchin who was drivin' never relaxed his long whistle, as we passed stone and flint and flints freely from the road, set the hens screamin' wildly and made an occasional old woman at a cottage drop her basket of leeks and cabbages.

"An' set the hens to scratchin'!" our entreaties unheeded, we soon got used to our flight through air. As we passed we scattered stones and flints freely from the road, set the hens screamin' wildly and made an occasional old woman at a cottage drop her basket of leeks and cabbages.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious. "We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said, with a look of the same kind as the last, but a little more serious.

"We've got in about the evicted tenants," she said

HOW MANY

Bright, active business men take Life Insurance, pay for the policy and put it away without examination? Have you ever read your Policy Contract?

THE NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

Will furnish on application, a Specimen Policy, made out at your present age, with Cash Paid Up and Extension Values endorsed thereon.

THIS YOU

Can examine at your leisure, and so learn what the Company really and definitely promise to do for you.

After you look at it and study it you will say it is the best CONTRACT you ever saw.

W. C. HOFFMAN,
Special Agent.

The K. T. S. and its Annex will reopen the first Monday in September. 50-tf

Aunt Patsy Treadway is still very sick.

Born on the 22nd, to Samuel Turley and wife, a son.

Handsome line of neckwear at Sharp, Trimble & Denton's.

Mr. James C. Brown continues very sick at his residence on High street.

Lexington has just brought a new patent street sweeper at a cost of $750.

Mr. Andy Thomason, a good citizen of Bourbon county, aged 65 years died from fever last week.

Frankfort is to have a new college for young ladies. Dr. J. R. Baumes will be President.

George M. Gibson is very low with pulmonary trouble and his demise is only a question of very short time.

Rev. W. E. Keller will preach at the Southern Presbyterian church next Sunday (the fifth Sabbath); at 11 o'clock a.m. All are cordially invited to hear him.

Died, Edgar Thompson, of Bright's disease, about 70 years of age. Funeral was preached at the residence by Rev. J. P. Haney. Burial at family burying ground at Will. Ed. Jones'.

Hon. Ed. Porter Thompson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has issued a circular in which he notes the County Superintendents that the per capita has been fixed at $2.75. A falling off from last year of 10 cents.

Judge J. R. Hardwick, of Stanton, Powell county, died on Monday of last week after a several week's illness of typhoid fever. Judge Hardwick was one of the most popular and highly esteemed men in his county.

The gentlemen composing the Sterling Dancing Club gave an impromptu hop at the Masonic Temple on Wednesday night last. The affair was participated in by quite a number, among them several young ladies and gentlemen who are visiting friends here.

Union service at the Baptist Church Sunday evening was largely attended and Rev. A. Reid, of the Methodist Church, preached a very interesting, earnest and practical discourse. The place and preacher for the next meeting will be announced from the pulpit next Sunday morning.

Editor J. H. Caraway, of the Morgan County Messenger was in the city last week on business. The Messenger under his management has become conspicuous as a bright, newsworthy paper, and Mr. Caraway is responsible for it. The Messenger has the clear Democratic ring, and its boldness has won for it a position very high in the hearts of the people.

Coxey is at it some more. He is credited with delivering a speech at Ridgewood Park, L. I., Sunday, in which he advocated the organization of the paupers and unemployed of New York and Brooklyn for the purpose of a march on Washington, where he assured his hearers, he could find work building jails for themselves, all prison room there being occupied just now.

Old Papers for sale at this office.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. M. Kendall, of Morgan County, was in the city last week.

Mrs. Lizzie Connell, of Paris spent Sunday with Miss Jessie Punch.

Mrs. Mamie Parks, of Parker, spent Sunday with Mrs. Frank Laughlin.

A. M. Bourne has returned from a visit to Bourbon and Nicholas counties.

Mrs. Kate Martin is visiting the family of her uncle, Mr. T. P. Martin, on Broadway.

Mrs. Ed Smith and children, of Scott County, are visiting the family of J. D. Wilson.

Mrs. T. G. Denton, who has been quite sick, has very much improved and will be able to be out in a few days.

R. C. Gatewood and wife, and J. Lawrence White and Miss Mary Owings, spent Sunday at Olympia Springs.

Mrs. R. T. Bean and daughter, Miss Mary, of Louisville, who have been visiting friends here, returned home Monday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Donohoe and daughter, Miss Mattie, are visiting in Williamsburg and will be absent about two weeks.

Frank Holleman and family of Cincinnati arrived here last week and are visiting relatives and friends here and in the county.

Misses Maymille and Florence Hanly, Alice Miller and Sally Armstrong are visiting Miss Sallie Judy, of North Middletown, this week.

Mrs. Sally Thompson and daughter, Amanda, have gone to Sturgon, Mo., to visit her sister, Mrs. J. H. Lidyand, and will be absent about a month.

Mr. F. H. Reppert, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday with his wife and child who are visiting at M. S. Tyler's. Mrs. Reppert and child will return home the latter part of this week.

Mr. John Mathews, of Colorado, is here visiting his friend, John Hunt, whom he regards only less tenderly than his sister. Mr. Mathews had a serious spell of sickness and his friends were very solicitous concerning him.

Messrs Oldham Greene, Hugh Stephens, Dr. Chas. Duerson, Jr. and Wm. Highland, and Misses Margaret, Eliza Procter, Anna Duerson, Lizzie Duerson, and Jno. C. Thompson and wife, spent Saturday night, and Sunday, at Olympia Springs.

The following gentlemen are occupying the "Casino" at Olympia Springs: John F. King, Carroll C. Chenuant, J. Edward Grubbs, R. H. Winn, Pierce Winn, Robert Barnes, Jr., J. G. Trimble, Jr., R. G. Kern, A. Hazelrigg and W. Bridge White.

W. C. Hoffman, who is at Aden Springs, writes that the following people are visiting there: Mrs. S. G. Gaskill, Miss Mary Apperson, Mrs. E. S. Apperson, Miss Katie Grubbs, Mrs. Laura Magowan, Mrs. A. S. Ballif, Mrs. Thos. Kennedy, W. C. Hoffman and wife, A. B. Ballif and wife, W. H. Fowitt and J. B. Yeildell, of Mt. Sterling; J. S. Stone and W. H. Collins, of Cincinnati, O.; Miss Catharine Poyntz, of Flemingsburg, and Mrs. J. T. Slade and son, of Lexington.

The Advertising

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always with the best of results. Gentlemen it is true: it always appeals to the sooth, common sense of thinking people, because it is true; and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements which the financial world would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

Hood's Pilla eure liver ilis, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion.

The Central Christian Church, of Lexington, was dedicated last Sunday afternoon.

Leadworking is the most disastrous of all trades to the health.

The total manufactures of the United States exceed $6,000,000,000.

Old Papers for sale at this office.

See the new chamois at R. C. Lloyd's.

The miners at Jellico, Tenn., 3000 in number, who went out on a strike May 1st, will go back to work Aug. 1.

Deering Camp-meeting from Aug. 2nd to 20th, extends over three Sundays. Good preaching every day. This pleasant out door trip will help you.

E. E. Matherly was Saturday appointed postmaster at Jeffersonville, vice Dr. J. L. Brown, resigned.

W. L. Corbett, of Paducah, a drummer for a Cincinnati house sundered by hanging himself. Despondency was occasioned by the lack of a good trade.

Elder Mark Colis passed through town yesterday to Sharpsburg, where he began a protracted meeting with the Christian Church at that place last evening.

If you have any accounts you want collected, or if you have any notes you want to get the money on, see S. W. Gaitshill. He has money and is ready for a trade. Office in Tyler Appenzell building. 52-21

The Kentucky Training School for Boys will begin its next session September 3, 1894, and never in the history of this school has the principal been so encouraged. Letters are coming in from far and near and the outlook is fine for a large school. Every preparation has been made. This is strictly a training school conducted on the most advanced practical methods. Write to Major C. W. Fowler for catalogues.

On yesterday we received a telegram from Mr. Tait, of Oregon, who is very desirous of locating here to establish a female college. He is highly recommended as an educator and would be anxious to see him come but do not think it wise to so advise at this time. Mr. Tait is a married man, and his wife is also a professor teacher. Should they come they would expect in a very short time to have school buildings of the most modern designs.

Harris Institute, under the management of Major C. W. Fowler and Prof. J. H. Caldwell, is meeting with very flattering prospects, and the school will more likely open September 3d with the rise of 100 pupils. Prof. Caldwell and family arrived in the city from Mississippi last week, and we find him a genial, refined gentleman of plenty of snap, and this, coupled with a strong, native mind, fully trained and equipped for his chosen life-work, makes him the success that he is. The Boarding department of Harris Institute will be under the supervision of Mrs. Caldwell.

On Wednesday afternoon some negro boys became engaged in a quarrel in Smithville, a negro suburb. Henry Hutsell, aged 14, was run over by several of those with whom he was quarreling, and upon reaching the door of the house he rushed in and, seizing a single barrel shotgun, fired at his pursuers, wounding Doug Wilson, Walter Owings and Jessie Hatchaway, none seriously. Hutsell was arrested and remanded to jail in default of $200 bail.

We have the cash with which to pay for every bushel of good wheat in the country. Come around and see MONARCH MILLING CO.

52-21

New York City has 34,000 miles of underground wires.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Grassy Lick.

J. F. Mason shipped to-day a car load of cattle to Cincinnati.

Born, on the 19th inst., to the wife of English Anderson, a son.

Gus Locknane, of Winchester, attended church at Grassy Lick Sunday.

Misses Mary and Annie Evans, Clark county, are visiting the family of J. H. Mason.

There is a good deal of complaint of hog cholera in this neighborhood; some are losing all.

Mrs. Clayton Howell and daughter, Miss Frances, are visiting relatives in Cincinnati this week.

Mrs. Dr. J. A. Shirley, Mrs. Wm. Green and Mrs. Richard Hunt, visited relatives at Winchester last week.

J. W. Stofer and wife visited the family of Allie Ratliff, near Sharpsburg, last Saturday and Sunday.

D. G. Howell bought last Monday of Allen & Trimble 20 head of good feeders, at $3.40 per hundred, average 1040 pounds.

The fine rain which fell Monday gladdened the hearts of anxious farmers. Corn, tobacco and gardens were needing it badly.

Rev. D. P. Ware was unable to fill his appointment last Sunday on account of sickness. Rev. Clark of Winchester, preached Sunday morning and Rev. P. J. Ross Sunday night.

Horse and cattle thieves are in the neighborhood. About four weeks ago Oldham Green lost a valuable mare, taken out of the pasture of his father, and two weeks later H. K. Green lost four head of fat cattle. Diligent search has been made for horses and cattle, but no trace of either. It is to be hoped that the guilty party may be caught. It is thought that there is a band of them in the neighborhood.

Mr. Wm. White, one of the most upright and sterling honest men of the county, died at his home near Somerset on Wednesday. Mr. White was one of those quiet men who exert an influence for good, God and truth by their unobtrusive lives. One of the best and most prosperous farmers in the county, he interfered with no man's business and looked strictly after his own. He enjoyed the speech and good will of all who knew him. For months past he has been in failing health, and was compelled to a great extent to relinquish an active interest in business matters. A large number of his neighbors and friends followed his remains to our beautiful cemetery, where they were laid to rest, on Thursday afternoon.

The handsome new edifice erected at the corner of Walnut and Short streets, Lexington, and to be known as the Central Christian church, was dedicated on Sunday. The building has a seating capacity of 1,000, and can be made to accommodate a congregation of 1,400.

The handsome new edifice erected at the corner of Walnut and Short streets, Lexington, and to be known as the Central Christian church, was dedicated on Sunday. The building has a seating capacity of 1,000, and can be made to accommodate a congregation of 1,400.

TESTIMONIALS published in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla are as reliable and worthy of confidence as if from your most trusted neighbor.

Two-year-old pacers that can step in 220 or better are getting very plentiful.

At Council Bluff, Judge Hurt, Carbonate and Directly finished only heads apart in 2:17, in the same race. At Minneapolis Princess Estelle another two-year-old, stepped out and won, taking a mark of 2:20. She is by Emperor Wilkes and as she won all of her heats in a log, the chances are that she will be a candidate for the 2:15 list later on.

Smelting by means of electricity is done in German iron works.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Sales on our market for the week just closed, amount to 2,614 hds., with receipts for the same period, 1,535 hds. Sales on our market since January 1st, amount to 92,343 hds. Sales of the crop of 1893 on our market to this date amount 99,335 hds.

During the week we have had an uninterrupted firm market for burley tobacco, with the good to fine grades of leaf rather higher than at any time during the year. We are again having a spell of local rains. In many localities the rain fall has been abundant but at this writing it is impossible to tell how much of the tobacco leaf has been covered by the recent rains.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco (1893 crop):

Trash (Dark damaged tobacco)

$2.50 to $3.50.

Common color trash, $4.00 to $5.00.

Medium to good color trash, $5.00 to $8.00.

Common lugs, not color, $4.50 to $5.50.

Common color lugs, $6.50 to $8.50.

Medium to good color lugs, $8.50 to $10.00.

Common to medium leaf $9.00 to $12.00.

Medium to good leaf $12.50 to $16.00.

Good to fine leaf, $16 to $18.

Select wrapper leaf, $18 to $24.50.

GLOVER & DURRITT.

The Delineator for August is called the Summer Holiday Number, and in every respect is a worthy representative of this popular Magazine. The summer fashions are pleasing to the eye and will be found very satisfactory by those who have delayed the completion of their warm-weather wardrobes.

The papers on Knitting, Tatting, Crocheting, and Fancy Work generally, have also special interest this month. There is an addition a suggestive and useful article on dressing for stout ladies. On the serial subjects Edith Child, Bryn Mawr, and F. E. Parrish's practical on Typewriting and Stenography as an employment for women. The contributions on Venetian Iron-work, and Crepe and Tissue papers provide further instructions in these fascinating and profitable home occupations, and Eleanor Georgan's article on the cultivation of the willow will be found valuable both by teachers of elocution and singing and their pupils. The housekeeper will be pleased with the suggestions contained in A Few Useful Pocket, and Hints on Serving Fruits, and the mother will find much sensible advice in the chapters on Mother and Daughter and How to Live Wisely. A Mid-summer Night's Dream and A Mutual Improvement Club offer suggestions for Summer entertainment. The subscription price of the Delineator is One Dollar a year. Single copies, Fifteen cents. Published by the Butterick Publishing Co. (Limited), New York, and for sale by local agents and newsdealers.

Bucklin's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever, sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required.

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cent's per box. For sale by W. S. Lloyd.

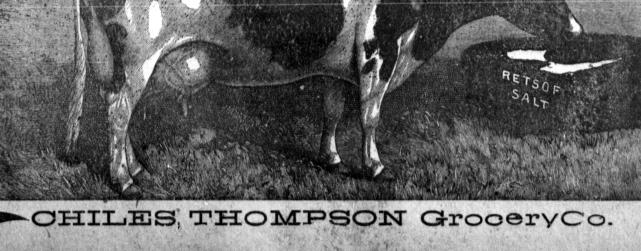

19-tf

For Sale, Cheap.

A seven Octavo Square Piano, Enquire at this office. 52-31

For sale or exchange, 10 Brown Leghorn hens.

Mrs. J. W. HEDDEN.

CHILES, THOMPSON Grocery Co.

THAT TIRED FEELING.

I'm tired of infant prodigies.
Now, tell me, are not you?
I'm tired of washer problems.
The clothes are mitey bad.
I'm tired of buying goods marked down.
Was it ever their fault?
Or getting lost in a striking town.
That double value so.

I'm tired of ladies who remain
Unmated for the rest of their lives.
Of men who sing, yet plead and feign
To have indeed no voice;
Of old men who never buy,
So close are they;
Of youth just home from college high,
With a new way.

I'm tired of, have you never been?
Of folks reminding me.
Their shoes are size one larger than
The clothes they ought to wear.
Of world be poor seeking fame
By harping "eternal spring."
Upon the world, whose name
Attached to this crude fling.

I'm tired of seeing ballet twirls
By girls whose sons can vote.
Of girls, "surely heaven sent,"
That perplexing minute.
Of clerks who know how to ask
The things I want to buy.
Of world be friends who "neath the mask

I'm tired of seeing the world hunt the.
I'm tired of fatal accident
By gun unloaded quite.
Of tonic, "surely heaven sent,"
That perplexing minute.
Of drivers and of motormen
Who never look my way;
Of old men who are a tea
And quite forgets to pay.
I'm tired of hearing old folks prate
Over days perfection frangui;
Of old men who are a tea
And quite forgets to pay.
I'm tired of all as rhythms are a bore.
I know you're tired of me.
—New Orleans Picayune.

A TRICICLE FOR TWO

A street organ was playing "A Bicycle Made For Two," and as we listened sadly and wondered how long England would be permitted to be the refuge of anarchists and organ grinders the colonel remarked to no one in particular: "A bicycle made for two may do well enough in this country, but if you Britshers had ever seen Professor Van Wagener's tricycle made for two you would never think of singing about any kind of bicycle."

"I think you're calling on the other day," continued the colonel, "about Professor Van Wagener, the great electrical sharp, who used to live next door to me in New Berlinopolisville. A mighty clever man, he was in many other directions than that of electricity. He was always inventing something. I have known that man to get up at 6 o'clock on a winter's morning and invent something by the full moon. Show him a piece of machinery, I don't care what it might be, and he would instantly go to work to improve it.

"I had a reaping machine in my field, and one day the professor happened to see it. Nothing would satisfy him but to have it taken to that machine so that it would gather the straw into bundles and tie them neatly around the middle with ropes which were to be twisted out of straw with a second attachment to the machine. He worked at this idea for several months until he got it to suit him. Then he built a barn and made a workshop at the back of it and took it into my field to exhibit it. He was so proud of it that he sent out written invitations to all his acquaintances to come and see it, and he told me that this time he had made an invention that was going to make his fortune and give him a reputation that would lie over and over again, except perhaps George Washington's."

The machine was a big, clumsy looking affair and was run by a horse that had a sort of stall in about the middle of it, where he couldn't play any tricks and where the machine couldn't play any tricks him. The professor had his wife with him and his wife could see that he was pretty sick, though I don't believe Van Wagener ever noticed that anything was pretty unless it was some sort of scientific apparatus. The horse was started up, and the machine began to reap and to tie up bundles of straw, just as the professor said it would do. His wife's consciences would not let her stay, so she took her nosepads off the machine, and before they fairly knew what was the matter the machine had tied the professor and the girl into a bundle and tied them so tight that they could hardly breathe. Naturally the people who had been invited to see the machine work rushed up to help the professor and the young woman, and presently that machine had most of the leading citizens of New Berlinopolisville tied up in neat bundles and lying around on the ground calling for help, except such of them as had been wrapped round with straw and were too nearly suffocated to speak. The machine kept on reaping, though there were citizens and more straw, until some man had sense enough to stop the horse and so put an end to the performance. There isn't any manner of doubt that it was a talented machine, but when the leading citizens had been set free they were too much prejudiced against it. Some of them were for killing the professor, and some of them were for killing the horse, but they finally compromised and arranged their differences by smashing the machine into scrap iron and informing the professor that if he ever calculated to build another one he'd better dig his graves first and sit close to the edge of it. I can't say that I blame them very much, for when a man is violently tied up with some other man whom he doesn't particularly like or with some other man's wife, he is bound to feel that his woman's husband is angry with his weapons and unwilling as a general rule to argue a matter until after he has got done shooting, it stands to reason that he won't feel particularly friendly to the machine that has done the shooting. I never heard any more about that machine from the colonel, but I do know that when his wife got him home she let him know that he couldn't be tied up in the same bundle with a good looking cousin without inviting the just indignation of a virtuous and devoted wife.

"Another time the professor was taking a drive with me in my buggy, and as we were passing along he said that the bit and reins ought to be superseded by electricity. So he goes to work and invents a new way of driving a horse by pressing buttons instead of pulling on the reins. He had wires running from the seat of his wagon to different parts of the horse. You pressed one button and the horse would give a shock on the right side of his face that made him turn to the left. You pressed another button, and a shock on the left cheek turned him to the right. A wire connecting with his tail was used to stir him up instead of a whip, and a strong current sent into the tail legs would make him stop dead when it was turned on. All these currents came from a battery under the seat of the wagon, and the buttons that turned them were let into the seat on either side of the driver.

"Van Wagener took his wife out to drive in this new style of wagon, and as he got it parked, and to all appearance was a success, he stopped in front of Dr. Smith's drug store, which was our leading drug store at the time, though afterward the proprietor was crushed by the Women's Christian Temperance union, who smashed all his whisky bottles and knocked off the heads of his whisky barrels and left nothing but the establishment to accept a few medicine bottles and a little perfume. Well, as I was saying, the professor stopped in front of the drug store, and Mrs. Van Wagener climbed down and bought some mustard plasters or something of the sort and then climbed into the wagon again. She was a very tall woman, which was a little strange considering how strict she was in matters of morality and religion, for your strict woman is nearly always more or less bony, and she sat down on the seat with considerable force and directly on the top of about half a dozen electric buttons, she having forgotten all about the horse, and the horse wouldn't quite understand the buttons, but when he felt a current setting up his spine, and another in his right cheek, he saw that as a matter of self respect he ought to kick that wagon to flinders, and accordingly he did, and he kicked the wife, who was delighted and said that she had never enjoyed anything half so much in all her life. Pretty soon the machine came to a middling steep decent in the road, and the professor started to shut off the current and put on his brake. But there was something wrong about the horse, for all of a sudden he stopped on the center to have his life, and when he put the brake hard on, hoping that it would stop the thing, the brake broke.

"They tell me that the tricycle went down that hill at about 60 miles an hour—that is, after it got well under headway, he understood. Now, that very horse would do about as well after it was off in slowing it down. The engine was working for all it was worth, and she meant to keep on working according to contract. When the tricycle struck the level ground, she slowed down to about 18 miles an hour, for the professor had given her more power than he had intended to give her, and when he got off on the next county, and he started to keep it at a pace of about 30 miles an hour. It didn't much matter to the professor and his wife, who had been scattered all over the neighborhood when the horse's heels first struck the seat, but when they came to and Smith had plastered them up with bromo-sulphite and Van Wagener remarked that in his opinion electricity ought to be made to take the place of such a grossly vicious animal."

The colonel paused and pulled his hat down over his eyes, as was his custom when he had finished speaking and was about to speak in silence. He was reminded by Thompson that, however interesting his recollection of Professor Van Wagener might be, they had not yet included the promised account of the tricycle made for two.

"Be your pardon, gentlemen," said the colonel, "I clean forgot about that. The truth is, when I get to remember about the professor's invention, there are moments of forgetfulness that I generally forget the particular one I started out to tell about. It's the same way with this hilly region of London. I've started out half a dozen times to go to see the Tower, and I strike so many things that interest me that I have never yet gotten to see the Tower. Take the cigar shops, for instance. Why, there are 3000 behind the age, and when I go into one I get talking with the proprietor and trying to show him the error of his ways, till first I know it's too late to go anywhere.

"But about this hilly tricycle. When bicycled and tricycled, there was much prejudice against it. Some of them were for killing the professor, and some of them were for killing the horse, but they finally compromised and arranged their differences by smashing the machine into scrap iron and informing the professor that if he ever calculated to build another one he'd better dig his graves first and sit close to the edge of it. I can't say that I pounds and driving an ordinary bicycle at the rate of 10 miles an hour, and say 300 foot pounds of energy—if anybody knows what that means, and I don't much believe anybody does. Well, the same man could run a mile with the consumption of only 400 pounds, leaving a plus of 100 pounds for the benefit of the poor widow. You know, feel as you like, said Van Wagener, they would drive their machines by electricity and avoid the awful consumption of energy." No sooner had this struck him than he proceeded to invent an electric engine for bicycles, and in the course of the summer he had his invention worked out to his satisfaction.

"The engine and storage battery took up a good deal of space, and so the wise professor, instead of applying it to a bicycle, had built a big tricycle, with seats for two, and fitted his engine to that. He calculated that it would drive the machine for 15 miles at speed of 15 miles on a level, and that it would be able to pull two persons in the aggregate 500 pounds with perfect ease. When the machine was all finished, the professor wheeled it out of the yard down to a turn in the road where Mrs. Wagener couldn't see him and made ready for a start. You know, he was very particular about his inventions and always said that he should never try experiments with new inventions so long as she could prevent it. Just as the professor was climbing aboard the tricycle, Widow Dumfries comes along, and being young and full of spirit, besides being a right-thinking woman, she stopped him and said, "What's this?" and it looked mighty selfish for him to start out alone, and if that he wanted to be ready accommodating he would give her a little ride on his machine. The professor never could say no, except to another scientific person, and so he told Mrs. Dumfries to get on the front seat and he would take her down to her house, which was about a quarter of a mile down the road.

"The machine went along all right, and the professor worked his way cautiously along the main street with his brake on most of the time, but as soon as he got to the outskirts of the town he turned on the current and he whooshed along the sidewalk. The widow was delighted and said that she had never enjoyed anything half so much in all her life. Pretty soon the machine came to a middling steep decent in the road, and the professor started to shut off the current and put on his brake. But there was something wrong about the horse, for all of a sudden he stopped on the center to have his life, and when he put the brake hard on, hoping that it would stop the thing, the brake broke.

"They tell me that the tricycle went down that hill at about 60 miles an hour—that is, after it got well under headway, he understood. Now, that very horse would do about as well after it was off in slowing it down. The engine was working for all it was worth, and she meant to keep on working according to contract. When the tricycle struck the level ground, she slowed down to about 18 miles an hour, for the professor had given her more power than he had intended to give her, and when he got off on the next county, and he started to keep it at a pace of about 30 miles an hour. It didn't much matter to the professor and his wife, who had been scattered all over the neighborhood when the horse's heels first struck the seat, but when they came to and Smith had plastered them up with bromo-sulphite and Van Wagener remarked that in his opinion electricity ought to be made to take the place of such a grossly vicious animal."

"When the professor found that he couldn't stop the tricycle, he was a pretty badly frightened man. He couldn't stop the horse himself without risking himself all up with the wheels and breaking most of his bones. Besides, he couldn't defend the widow in any such way as that. You may ask why he didn't turn the machine round and steer for home. The truth is, that he couldn't possibly turn it at such speed, and that he had no time to explain the whole concern. The only thing he could possibly do was to keep in the middle of the road and let the machine run till the power was exhausted, which if he had made no mistake in his calculation wouldn't be less than 12 hours.

"Mrs. Dumfries enjoyed the thing at first, but after a little while she suspected that something was wrong. The professor told her that he was sorry to say that he couldn't stop the tricycle, but if she sat tight and they had muddling good luck he calculated that they wouldn't come any great harm. The widow wasn't easily frightened, she was a strong woman, and she sat tight on her seat, took up her pipe of shoes and stockings and declared that if there was to be an accident she would have to make the best of it. The longer the ride lasted the less chance there seemed to be of running into anything, for the teams that the professor and Mrs. Dumfries had been driving had been muddling along the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It was about 9 o'clock in the morning when the professor and his wife had come to the turn in the road, and the driver made—that is in those cases where he was in a condition to make remarks, but he couldn't stop to explain or apologize.

"It

THE ADVOCATE.

MR. CLEVELAND TALKS.

The Abandonment of Tariff Reform

"Means Party Perfidy and Party Dishonor."

Mr. Cleveland has addressed the following letter to Hon. W. L. Wilson, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee:

Executive Mansion, Washington, July 2, 1894.—Hon. W. L. Wilson.—My Dear Sir: The certainty that a conference will be ordered between the two Houses of Congress for the purpose of adjusting differences on the subject of tariff legislation, makes it also certain that you will be again called on to do hard service in the cause of tariff reform.

My public life has been so closely related to the subject, I have so longed for its accomplishment and I have so often promised its realization to my fellow countrymen as a result of their trust and confidence in the Democratic party, that I hope no excuse is necessary for my earnest appeal to you that in this crisis you strenuously insist upon party honesty and good faith, and a sturdy adherence to Democratic principles. I believe that these are absolutely necessary conditions to the continuation of Democratic existence.

I can not rid myself of the feeling that this conference will present the best, if not the only, hope of true Democracy. Indications point to its action as the reliance of those who desire the genuine fruition of Democratic effort, the fulfillment of Democratic pledges, and the redemption of Democratic promises to the people. To reconcile differences in the details comprised within the fixed and well defined lines of principle will not be the sole task of the conference, but, as it seems to me, its members will have in charge the question whether Democratic principles are to be saved or abandoned.

There is no excuse for mistaking or misapprehending the feeling and the temper of the rank and file of the Democracy. They are downcast under the assertion that their party fails in ability to manage the Government and they are apprehensive that efforts in apprehension of their fear that Democratic principles may be surrendered.

In these circumstances they cannot do otherwise than to look with confidence to you and those who with you patriotically and sincerely championed the cause of tariff reform within Democratic lines and guided the Democratic principles.

Every true Democrat and every sincere tariff reformer knows that this bill, in its present form, and as it will be submitted to the conference, falls far short of the consummation for which we have labored long, for which we have suffered defeat without discouragement; which in its anticipation gave us a rousing cry in our day of triumph, and which in its promise of accomplishment is so interwoven with Democratic pledge and Democratic success that our abandonment of the cause or the principles upon which it rests means party perfidy and party dishonor.

One topic will be submitted to the conference which embodies Democratic principle so directly that it cannot be compromised. We have in our platforms and in every way possible declared in favor of the free importation of raw materials. We have again and again promised that this should be accorded to our people and to our manufacturers as soon as the Democratic party was invested with the power to determine the tariff policy of the country.

The party now has that power. We are as certain to-day as we have ever been of the great benefit that would accrue to the country from the inauguration of this policy, and nothing has occurred to release us from our obligations to secure this advantage to our people. It must be admitted that no tariff measure can accord with Democratic principles and promises, or bear a genuine Democratic badge, that does not provide for a free raw material.

In these circumstances it may well excite our wonder that Democrats are willing to depart from this, the most democratic of all tariff principles, and that the inconsistent absurdity of such a proposed departure should be emphasized by the suggestion that the sun is very elongated ellipses. When these cross the path of the earth, shooting stars become visible. They are not luminous in themselves. Their brilliancy is the result of the transformation of their rapid motion into heat.

Three earthquake shocks were felt Wednesday morning throughout the Mississippi valley, from St. Louis to Memphis.

Orders have been issued for the resumption of the coining of silver dollars by the mints at New Orleans and San Francisco.

Died, on Sunday, the 15th inst., of peritonitis, on Spruce Creek, this county, the three-year-old son of Greenberry Spencer.

In New York, Henry A. Taylor, a banker, worth about $3,000,000, has been sued by his wife for separation, charging cruelty and abandonment.

The hospitable citizens of Paducah, Ky., are making active preparations for welcoming the State militia at the State encampment to be held in the suburbs of that place.

R. C. Ford, of Clay county, candidate for State Treasurer claims the Democrats of the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Eleventh Congressional Districts are solid for him.

The bill for the division of Kentucky into two Federal Judicial districts was called up in the House last Tuesday, but Mr. Garth's opposition caused it to go over without action.

The Federal troops have been withdrawn from Chicago. The cavalry and artillery will, however, remain for a time at Fort Sheridan, to be close in the event of another outbreak.

Judge Barr, of the Federal Court, has given the receivers of the Kentucky and Indiana Bridge Company authority to issue certificates to the amount of $70,000 for the payment of lien claims and accrued interest on bonds.

A lady, whose hair came out with every combing, was induced to give Ayer's Hair Vigor a faithful trial. She did so, and not only was the loss of hair checked, but a new and vigorous growth soon succeeded that which had gone.

A telegram signed by twenty banks and eighty leading business firms of Chicago has been sent to Congress protesting against the quibbling and delay on the tariff question, and urging that the pending legislation be terminated immediately.

Dr. Tackett, an illiterate man who has been working the faith cure racket in Eastern Kentucky, was tried at Vanceburg for empiricism. Eleven of the jury thought the man, who can neither read nor write, fit to treat the sick, even though he used no medicines.

The value of a good name was well exemplified the other day, when a man asked one of our drugists for a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Whose?" inquired the clerk. "Whose? why, Ayer's of course. You don't suppose I'm going to run any risks with Hannah, do ye?"

Many a poor dupe of Debs who acted in this advice—"Save your money and buy a gun," and who is now out of work out of money and in a gun, would readily sell his gun to Debs for an hour or two of Debs' salary and cheerfully test the weapon by firing it at the white ribbon on Debs' lapel—Courier Journal.

Two strikers who violated Judge Ross' omnibus injunction at Los Angeles, Cal., were Wednesday sentenced to eight months' imprisonment. United States Marshal Baldwin answered the offer of strikers to furnish deputes by stating that the best service they could render to themselves would be to refrain from unlawful acts.

Mgr. Stolti, apostolic delegate, has rendered a decision sustaining the action of Bishop Watterson, whereby he withdrew his approbation from every Catholic society having a liquor depot or saloon-keeper among its officers, or adding that no one engaged in the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors should be admitted to membership in such societies.

Shooting stars are small cosmic bodies generally weighing only a few grammes, often much less, and composed mainly of iron and carbon. They travel in swarms through space, and, like comets, move around the sun in very elongated ellipses. When these cross the path of the earth, shooting stars become visible. They are not luminous in themselves. Their brilliancy is the result of the transformation of their rapid motion into heat.

This is more palpably apparent when we realize that the business of our country timidly stands and watches for the result of our efforts to prevent tariff legislation, that a quick and certain return of prosperity waits upon a wise adjustment, and a confounding people still trust in our hands their Advocate Publishing Company.

FINE PRINTING!

UNDoubtedly THE BEST EQUIPPED JOB OFFICE IN EASTERN KENTUCKY.

Every Merchant Should Know Us.

THE MOST ARTISTIC DESIGNS.

PRICES CONSISTENT WITH THE TIMES.

ADDRESS... Advocate Publishing Co.

TYLER-APPERSON BUILDING.

Mt. Sterling, Ky.

THE NEW CENTRAL HOTEL
WINCHESTER, KY.
Rates $2.00 PER DAY.

FINE Sample Rooms on first floor
for commercial business.

FREE OF CHARGE

ELECTRIC BELLS *

And all conveniences pertaining to a
* FIRST-CLASS HOTEL:
C. G. CALLAWAY, Prop'r.

COURT DIRECTORY.

CIRCUIT COURT
JUDGE JOHN E. COOPER presiding, Third Monday in January and the Second Monday in April and the First Monday in September.

MONTGOMERY QUARTERLY COURT
JUDGE LEWIS APPERSON presiding, Tuesday Third Monday in January, April, July and October.

COURT COURT,
Third Monday of each month.
MR. STELLING CITY COURT—CIVIL BRANCH
Judge W. C. Givens presiding, First Saturday in each month.

PROFESSIONAL.

JOHN M. ELLIOTT,
Attorney-at-Law,
Office, 14 Court Street, First Floor.

J. M. OLIVER,
Attorney-at-Law and Surveyor.
All collections and real estate transactions or anything concerning the same promptly attended to and bills sent when desired. Office, Court Street, opposite Court House.

A. A. HAZELRIGG,
Attorney-at-Law & City Atty.,
Office, Tyler-Apperson building, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

M.S. Tyler,
TYLER & APPERSON,
Attorneys-at-Law,
Office, Tyler-Apperson building, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

A. B. WHITE,
Attorney-at-Law,
Will practice in the counties of Montgomery, Fayette, Powell, Clark and Bourbon, and the Supreme and Circuit Courts. Office on Court St., opposite Court House.

W. DEHAVEN,
Attorney-at-Law,
Office, Court Street, Mt. Sterling, Ky.
Will practice in all Courts of the Commonwealth.

DR. D. L. PROCTOR,
Dentist,
Mt. Sterling National Bank.

DR. HOWARD VAN ANTVEN,
Dentist,
Office with Dr. Wm. van Anwerp, Short Street, opposite the court house.

H. CLAY McKEE,
Attorney-at-Law,
Mt. Sterling, Ky.
Office upstairs, Main Street.

B. F. DAY,
Office over Exchange Bank.
Mt. Sterling,
Will practice in all the Courts of Kentucky and the Federal Courts.

A. T. WOOD,
HENRY S. WOOD,
ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW,
Room No. 6 Tyler-Apperson Block
Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Will practice in Montgomery, Powell, Breathitt and Lee Counties and Superior Court of Appeals, and the Circuit and District Courts of Kentucky.

ESTABLISHED 1856.
EXCELSIOR HOTEL,
Mt. Sterling, Ky. Capital Stock $100,000.
B. F. Peters Pres. John G. Winn, Chaser.

Have
You Anything
To Sell?

Then advertise in the ADVOCATE
It will be certain to find you a purchaser

TRIMBLE BROS.

WHOLESALE* GROCERS

MT. STERLING, KY.

